BUSINESS AUDIT PREPARED FOR

Cool Geek Media

https://coolgeek.me

Cool Geek Media presents as a friendly, experienced small agency but the site is generic, thin on proof, and not clearly targeted — which will quietly kill lead quality and volume. You need sharper positioning, clearer offers, proof (results, testimonials), and a real content/social presence that matches what a ‘modern’ marketing partner should look like.

Prepared by SoulPrint Engine Pro · Comprehensive read of website, social presence, reviews, brand voice, and competitive position.

WHY THIS SCORE

Solid basics and a credible core story, but generic messaging, vague services, missing proof, and weak digital footprint hold it back from feeling like a top-tier growth partner.

TOP STRENGTHS

Clear core promise

Headlines like "We are a dynamic team of creative people and marketing experts" and copy about "help your business grow by utilizing the latest in platforms, strategies...both online and offline" make it obvious that you're a marketing agency focused on growth. Prospects immediately know what category you're in.

Outcome-minded language

Sections like "GREAT RESULTS" and project blurbs (e.g., increasing new patient appointments for a pain management clinic, driving tours for senior living communities) orient around results rather than just activities, which is directionally right for decision-makers.

Approachable, human tone

Lines like "Let's chat! We promise not to waste your time." and email handles like awesomepeople@coolgeek.me give a friendly, non-corporate vibe that fits the "Cool Geek" brand and makes you feel more accessible than a typical stiff agency site.

CRITICAL ISSUES

Generic, undifferentiated messaging

Phrases like "few decades of experience" and "utilizing the latest in platforms, strategies" are things any agency could say and don't explain why your approach is different or who you're best for (e.g., clinics, senior living). That makes it easy for prospects to mentally group you with cheaper, commodity alternatives.

Thin services detail and weak offer

The SERVICES section lists "Strategies, Analytics, Great Results" but doesn't define specific service packages, channels, deliverables, or minimum engagements, and there's no concrete lead magnet beyond a soft "Let's chat". This makes it harder for visitors to self-qualify or feel confident enough to reach out.

Lack of proof and authority

You mention successful projects but provide no numbers, testimonials, logos, or case-study pages; your LinkedIn is essentially blank and there's no visible blog or thought leadership. In a crowded agency market, this absence of proof erodes trust and gets you filtered out before a call is ever booked.

PRIORITIZED RECOMMENDATIONS

The highest-leverage fixes

Each recommendation is paired with a concrete way SoulPrint Engine Pro helps you act on it — drafting, research, monitoring, or preparing the deliverable for you to ship.

1. Sharpen your positioning and ideal client focus

HIGH

Decide who you are primarily for (e.g., local healthcare providers and senior living communities) and write a focused positioning statement that leads your homepage hero: what you do, for whom, and the business result you own. Reflect this in your ABOUT and SERVICES copy so prospects see themselves immediately ("We help pain clinics and senior living communities fill appointments and tours using paid social and search"). Measure success via improved time-on-page, lower bounce from the homepage, and more qualified contact form submissions that match your target profiles.

Expected impact: Expect a higher share of inquiries from your best-fit verticals and less time wasted on poor-fit leads.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

SoulPrint's Brand Voice Engineer agent can run a brief positioning workshop in-chat using your current client list and projects, then draft 2–3 alternative positioning statements and homepage hero variants. A Competitive Researcher mission can scan regional marketing agencies serving healthcare/senior living and produce a PDF showing how they position, so you can deliberately stake out a distinct angle before updating your site.

2. Rebuild the homepage hero and above-the-fold offer

HIGH

Replace the current general hero with a conversion-focused block: a sharp headline ("Fill more appointments and tours with full-funnel digital campaigns"), a subhead that names your core services and ICP, 3–4 proof bullets (e.g., "+45% new patient bookings in 90 days"), and a primary CTA like "Book a 20-minute growth consult" plus a secondary CTA ("Download our Healthcare Campaign Playbook"). Track changes in click-through on CTAs, consult bookings, and form completion rates.

Expected impact: A clearer, proof-backed hero with a specific next step can significantly lift lead conversion from existing traffic.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

Use SoulPrint's Conversion Copywriter agent to draft new hero sections (headline, subhead, bullets, CTAs) tailored to your chosen ICP, including variations for A/B testing. The output is saved as a PDF in the Document Library, ready for your web developer to implement and test.

3. Develop 2–3 concrete service packages with outcomes

HIGH

Transform "Strategies / Analytics / Great Results" into named, outcome-driven offers (e.g., "Patient Pipeline Accelerator", "Senior Living Tour Engine") that clearly state who they're for, what's included (channels, deliverables, cadence), expected time-to-value, and starting price or price range. This helps prospects self-select and gives your sales conversations a clear structure. Measure increased contact form submissions mentioning specific packages and smoother, shorter sales cycles.

Expected impact: Clear productized services will increase perceived professionalism and reduce friction for serious buyers.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

SoulPrint's Go-to-Market Strategist agent can turn your current and past engagements into 2–3 standardized package descriptions, including scope, sample timelines, and FAQs. A Sales Enablement mission can then generate a one-page PDF for each package to use on your site and in proposals.

4. Turn projects into quantified case studies with social proof

MEDIUM

Expand your "Pain Management Clinic" and "Senior Living Communities" blurbs into full case studies: starting situation, strategy, channels used, key numbers (e.g., % lift in new appointments, tour bookings), and a short client quote. Add logos where possible and a carousel of 3–5 testimonials on the homepage. Also, proactively invite reviews on platforms like Bark and Google Business Profile. Track new reviews, testimonial count, and whether prospects mention case studies on discovery calls.

Expected impact: Adding specific numbers and voices from real clients will significantly boost trust, especially with risk-averse healthcare and senior care buyers.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

Activate a Customer Insights Analyst agent to interview you (via prompts) about each project and draft full case-study narratives plus testimonial snippets. A Reviews Therapist mission can draft outreach emails asking happy clients for public reviews and monitor Bark/Google for new feedback, summarizing it into a monthly PDF digest.

5. Clarify and strengthen calls-to-action and contact flow

MEDIUM

Replace generic "Let's chat" language with a concrete, low-friction offer ("Schedule a free 20-minute audit of your current campaigns") and build a short, structured contact form that captures role, industry, monthly ad spend, and primary goal. Make the CTA visible in the hero, navigation, and at the end of each service/case-study section. Success metrics: higher form completion, more scheduled calls, and better-quality lead data on first contact.

Expected impact: A specific, value-focused CTA and better intake form design can materially improve both conversion rate and lead quality.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

SoulPrint's Funnel Architect agent can design the ideal contact flow and draft precise form questions and microcopy (labels, error messages, confirmation text). The Conversion Copywriter agent then writes consistent CTA copy variants and thank-you page messaging, which your team plugs into your site or form tool.

6. Build a minimum-viable content and LinkedIn presence

MEDIUM

Right now, your brand search shows a barebones LinkedIn profile and no clear thought leadership. Commit to a simple content plan focused on your niches: 1 short case-study-style blog post or article per month and 1–2 LinkedIn posts per week that share specific tactics, before/after stories, or metrics. This doesn't need to be huge, but it should show you're actively executing and learning. Measure growth in LinkedIn followers, profile views, and inbound inquiries referencing content.

Expected impact: A visible, active presence creates the perception of momentum and expertise, which is critical in a trust-based service business.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

Use SoulPrint's Social Queue to auto-draft weekly LinkedIn posts based on your recent wins and case studies, with branded images via the Brand Assets + Logo Library. A Content Strategist agent can outline a 3-month editorial calendar and draft your first 3–4 long-form posts, which you can lightly edit and publish on your site or LinkedIn.

7. Update legal, fulfillment, and support messaging to match brand

LOW

Your fulfillment and legal pages use different language (e.g., awesomepeople@coolgeek.me) than the main site and may confuse or reduce trust if not aligned. Ensure those pages clearly and simply explain timelines, guarantees, and communication standards in the same approachable but professional tone as your main pages. Monitor reduction in pre-sales questions about terms and fewer back-and-forths about expectations post-signing.

Expected impact: Consistent, clear policies won't win leads by themselves but will reduce friction, doubt, and potential disputes.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

SoulPrint's Policy & Compliance Copywriter agent can review your current legal/fulfillment text (via URLs you provide) and rewrite it in a more on-brand, plain-language style while preserving the legal content. The final drafts are output as PDFs via the Document Library for your lawyer and web team to review and implement.

8. Differentiate the Cool Geek brand visually and verbally

LOW

Lean into the "Cool Geek" identity with more distinctive visuals (colors, iconography, imagery) and copy that conveys your specific "geekiness" (data-obsessed? testing culture? tools you love?). This will help you stand out among generic agency sites and be more memorable after a multi-tab comparison. Track brand recall in sales conversations and qualitative feedback from prospects (e.g., "I loved your geeky vibe").

Expected impact: A sharper, more ownable brand personality improves memorability and word-of-mouth, especially among tech-friendly clients.

HOW SOULPRINT ENGINE HELPS YOU ACT ON THIS

Upload your current logos and colors into SoulPrint's Brand Assets + Logo Library, then have the Brand Voice Engineer agent codify 3–5 brand voice rules and signature phrases. A Design Concept mission can generate a small set of on-brand image and layout concepts for your homepage and social graphics, which your designer can use as a starting point.

BRAND VOICE READ

Stated mission vs. how the market hears it

Stated mission. Help businesses grow by utilizing the latest online and offline marketing platforms and strategies, backed by decades of marketing and sales experience.

Actual voice. Friendly, approachable, slightly casual and upbeat, with a mix of generic agency language and hints of playful "geeky" personality ("Let's chat! We promise not to waste your time.").

The gap. You talk about being dynamic, experienced, and creative, but the actual copy is light on specifics, proof, or truly 'geeky' depth (data stories, experiments, tools) that would make the geek branding feel earned and differentiated.

DEEPER ANALYSIS

Section-by-section read

WEBSITE ANALYSIS

The site is simple and easy to parse with clear navigation (Home, About Us, Services, Projects, Contact). However, the content is thin and high-level: SERVICES is essentially three abstract concepts (strategies, analytics, results) with no tactic detail, industries, or packages; PROJECTS mention successes but provide no numbers, timelines, or quotes; CONTACT is just a phone number and email without a form or articulated offer. The homepage hero and about copy make it clear you're a marketing agency, but there’s no evident blog or resources, and no visible lead magnet. Overall, the conversion path is "read some generalities, maybe email or call" — which is a big ask for cold visitors and doesn’t help qualify or warm them up.

SOCIAL PRESENCE

Public search surfaces a LinkedIn company page with no description and a Facebook page with a small following and a basic tagline ("Helping busineses engage with thier customers online and off"). There’s no visible, consistent posting cadence or recent campaign highlights, and no other active platforms are immediately obvious. This undercuts the promise of being savvy with the "latest platforms" and makes the brand feel quieter and less current than a modern marketing partner should.

REVIEWS SUMMARY

No meaningful, public reviews for Cool Geek Media LLC itself surfaced in the scan beyond a Bark profile that invites reviews but does not showcase any. Some Trustpilot and Reddit results relate to a different consumer brand (CoolGeek audio products), so they are not relevant to your reputation. Effectively, you’re operating without visible social proof in standard review ecosystems (Google, Bark, LinkedIn), which is a missed opportunity and may cause cautious buyers to hesitate.

COMPETITIVE CONTEXT

Against similar-sized digital agencies like those flagged on ZoomInfo, you lag in specificity and proof: others more clearly define their services, industries, and performance claims, and many showcase case studies or reviews. Your approachable tone is a plus, but without evidence and a visible content/social footprint, you risk being perceived as a generic, possibly part-time or side-hustle shop, which is a problem if you’re targeting serious healthcare and senior-living operators who need clear ROI and reliability.

COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE

Direct competitors

Three companies playing the same game — and where they're ahead.

ClickFormula

https://clickformula.com

Positions more concretely around digital lead generation with clearer service descriptions and often more detailed funnels, which feels less generic to performance-minded clients.

Accufact Media

https://accufactmedia.com

Leans hard into data-driven performance marketing with case studies and proof points, giving them an authority edge for prospects comparing options.

SEOWebplanet Solutions

https://seowebplanet.com

Offers very specific, SEO-focused service lists and packages, making it easy for prospects to understand scope and pricing at a glance.

TACKLE THESE WITH SOULPRINT ENGINE PRO

SoulPrint Engine Pro gives you the specialist bench you don’t have in-house: a Brand Voice Engineer to nail your "Cool Geek" positioning, a Conversion Copywriter to rebuild your homepage and CTAs around specific offers, and a Customer Insights Analyst to turn your existing wins into real case studies and testimonials. Mission Mode can run ongoing competitive and review scans so your messaging, packages, and proof stay aligned with the market instead of drifting into generic agency-speak. The Social Queue then turns those assets into a steady stream of on-brand LinkedIn and social content, complete with branded images from your Asset Library, so your digital footprint finally matches the story you tell. You and your team still decide what to publish and when — SoulPrint just does the heavy lifting of drafting, researching, and packaging the work so improvements actually ship. If you start with SPE Pro, begin by having it draft your new homepage, packages, and first two case studies, then layer on social and review missions once that core is live.

Start free at pro.soulprintengine.ai